

EMPOWERING YOUTH LEADERS

Leaders are made here.

When you give to United Way, you're helping launch the next generation of leaders. Through our Youth United Council, in partnership with the University of Georgia's J.W. Fanning Institute, 68 high school juniors and seniors from across Whitfield and Murray counties are gaining real-world leadership and workforce development skills using the Youth Leadership in Action curriculum. These students aren't just learning—they're leading. From organizing service projects to addressing local issues, they are stepping up to make a difference in their schools and communities. Your support gives them the tools, confidence, and opportunities they need to grow into strong, purpose-driven leaders of tomorrow.

You make this work possible.
