

leaders are made here

When you give to United Way of Northwest Georgia. You are not just donating, you're launching the next generation of community leaders.

Through Youth United, students begin their leadership journey as members of the Youth United Council, where high school juniors engage in the University of Georgia's J.W. Fanning Institute for Leadership Development Youth Leadership in Action curriculum. They build foundational skills in leadership, service, and community engagement while gaining hands-on experience addressing real needs in Whitfield and Murray counties.

As seniors, students have the opportunity to continue that journey as Youth United Ambassadors, taking what they've learned and putting it into action. Ambassadors serve as mentors, lead volunteer projects, and help engage other students in service, deepening their impact and strengthening their voice as leaders in our community.

This isn't just a program; it's a launchpad for our future community leaders.

Meet the Class of 2027: 68 remarkable students from local high schools, all driven to lead, learn, and make a difference. Through real-world experiences, they are developing leadership and workforce skills that prepare them not only for their futures, but for meaningful roles in our community today.

Your support makes it possible. When you give to United Way of Northwest Georgia, you give young people the tools to lead, the confidence to act, and the opportunity to shape what comes next.

You're not just investing in students, you're investing in the future of our community.
